

Tuesday, December 11. 2007

This Should Clear It Up

I have been told again that my site doesn't make any sense. While I stand by that it is simply a place to hold my writings, and possibly a rant or two, I realize that I should probably put a translator on it so that people can easily understand what is going on. I have provided you with this link that will help translate my site into an easier to read source: RoryWeb Translation

Posted by Rory Brown at 18:19